Income Survey

If you get a call this month from Portland State University's Population Center about an income survey, it is not a scam. PSU is conducting the confidential survey for the City of Echo. Please provide them with the information they are asking for. PSU is still trying to gather enough responses to an income survey for financing our sewer system improvements.

As reported in the February Newsletter, to apply for funds to finance the sewer system upgrades, the City must provide certain demographic information about the city to the State of Oregon. PSU has sent out two mailings and has gone door to door over the last two months trying to gather the required number of completed surveys, but are still short the number needed. A phone survey is the next attempt to gather the needed information.

Growth Award

Echo Elementary Students and the public are invited to the Tree Fair which will include rotation between educational interactive stations such as Tree Art, Fire Fighting, Tree Bingo, Tree Story time. Jeanie Hampton was kind enough to organize the stations again this year. Prizes will be awarded for the coloring contest (Preschool children can pick up the coloring sheets at city hall). Elementary students will receive the sheets in the classroom.

Refreshments will be served at the station outside city hall, unless the weather is bad. There will be door prizes.

We would like to welcome Jay & Kim Bales and their Family to the community, wish them luck and thank them for investing in the community and for converting the the old Echo Mill Site from an eyesore to a great asset that recycles this historic site and gives it new life.

Spring Water Bills

If your water bill is higher this month it is because this bill is the first time meters have been read since October. Over the winter you are only billed the minimum for up to 3000 gallons per month. This bill is based on actual usage less the 15,000 gallons already billed over the winter.

Tree Art

The First piece of art purchased through grants and donations to the Echo Public Art Project went up earlier last month. Douglas Gisi, artist, helps the city crew guide the art to its home in the garden in front of the old service station. This piece celebrates the history of Trees in Echo's History and our 27 years as a Tree City USA.

A second piece by Gisi will be placed in front of the old Echo Hotel and will celebrate Farming and Transportation in Echo History.

These two pieces of art were funded from grants from the Kinsmans Foundation, Umatilla County and Echo Community Benefit Fund. Private donations also have provided over $2000 toward public Art.

The art will be dedicated and signage installed in July at the America in Bloom Judges Reception.

Donors names will appear on the sign. Any donations toward Echo Public Art received by the end of April will be listed on the signage.

Echo's School Art Program is working on two additional art projects for the downtown. The wheat sculpture donated in memory of the Penney & Rauch Families by Chris Rauch will be reinstalled this spring. A new base that can be bolted to the sculpture so it doesn't fall over will soon be reinstalled.

More Art: Other Art Projects have been identified by the Echo Art Committee and will be installed as funding is obtained.

If you are interested in these projects call Diane Berry, 541-376-8411 or post a message via the city's webpage www.echo-oregon.com.

America in Bloom

We are beginning to kick off this year's America in Bloom Program and Fund-raising effort. Kopacz Nursery reports that they donated nearly $1100 in plant materials last year.

This doesn't count the greenhouse costs or labor. Thanks so much Tania Hoeft and Sherrie Kopacz. Please be sure and thank them when you visit the nursery. They really appreciate hearing from you.

Please consider making a donation to this program which results in improved looks and livability in our community, not only in flowers and landscape but community involvement, environmental effort, historical preservation and urban forestry.

We will continue the Puncture Vine Bounty this year. Unless weather is too cool, we will start in mid June and run until the $500 budget is depleted. Last year we received another $100 in donations toward the program which allowed us to extend the program.

Donations so far this year $825:

Diane Berry	$200
Charlotte Berry	$75
Echo Boosters	$50
Echo Garden	$50
Fort Henrietta Foundation	$75
George Murdock	$100
Judy and Bill Webb	$25
Kingsley & Margaret Parker	$100

(The George Park was donated by & named for his grandparents Mr. & Mrs. F.T. George, and his donation is for this park)
